

SAYS BOROUGH SPENDING MAY EXCEED BUDGET

A warning that the borough is spending twice as much money as it did two years ago and that unless expenditures are pared to the bone, it will exceed its budget this year, was sounded by Councilman H. M. Oyler, chairman of the finance committee, at Monday night's meeting of the council in the fire engine house.

Oyler pointed to the monthly report of Borough Treasurer John H. Baschore, which showed that expenditures to date total $66,354.21, and declared that the borough will exceed its $80,000 budget figure unless all departments practice economy. He asked that council members refrain from ordering anything more than necessary for the balance of the year, which ends December 31.

$40,336 In Treasury

"Two years ago we operated the borough on a little less than $30,000," he declared. "If we are careful from now on, we can still live within our budget, so let's be careful."

Oyler said that in past years the borough had been able to save approximately ten per cent of its appropriation annually, but would be unable to do so this year.

"Let's not buy a thing that we don't need from here on," Oyler said.

The treasurer's report showed expenditures for October of $8,108.60 and a balance at the end of the month in the borough treasury of $40,336.

Parking meter receipts totaled $1,701.91, divided as follows: Center Square, $426.15; Baltimore street, $402.64; York street, $275.37; Chambersburg street, $427.30; and Carlisle street, $170.45.

The home of the Albert J. Lentz American Legion post on Baltimore street will be entirely under roof within the next two weeks, weather permitting. William E. Timmins, Sr., of the building committee, told the Lentz post Monday evening at its regular meeting.

At present only the rear of the building is under roof. Workmen, who tore out the front of the Legion building and the adjoining Stoner building, which is to become part of the post home, have been reconstructing the lower part of the front during the past month. The post held its meeting Monday night in the partially completed auditorium in the rear of the structure.

Harry D. Ridinger, of the membership committee, urged as many members as possible to secure their 1948 memberships prior to November 15 when the post is to make its first report to the state headquarters on membership for the coming year. PARADE RAINED OUT FOR SECOND TIME, CANCELLED

Gettysburg will not have a Halloween parade this year.

That was the decision reached by the committee in charge Monday night at the court house after an hour-long session in which the committee discussed the possibility of again postponing the event until later this week. But the group decided that with weather prognostications calling for more rain another attempt to stage the parade would not be worth while.

However the dance scheduled to be held in connection with the parade will be held at a later date in the Hotel Gettysburg annex.

To Return Prize Money

Money donated by various organizations and individuals for prizes will be returned to the donors, the committee announced.

The parade was originally scheduled for last Thursday, but was postponed because of inclement weather. Permission was obtained from the state to hold the postponed event on Monday night, but again rain washed out the proceedings.

The free public dance to be held later this month by the committee will probably be a masked ball with prizes to be given to younger children in a costume parade to be held in the Hotel annex immediately prior to the dance.

Cooperation of the Gettysburg Recreation Association in arranging for the dance was secured Monday night, with the recreation group to donate use of the annex for the dance.

Protests $8.77 Fine For First "Overtime" Parking

If a motorist gets a "ticket" in Gettysburg for overtime parking, and fails to turn it in to Burgess C. A. Heiges or Borough Treasurer John H. Baschore within the 24 hour limit prescribed by the ordinance, he can do one of three things: Pay the fine and costs, totalling $8.77.

Request a hearing.

If he is found guilty, he can take an appeal.

This was what Paul A. Fissel, of Gettysburg R. 1, was told Monday night at the regular meeting of the borough council at the fire engine house.

Fissel went to the meeting to protest against the payment of the fine and costs, which he said he thought totalled too much money for a first offense.

He admitted that he was guilty, but said he "forgot" to turn in the ticket within the time limit. A summons was sent to him by registered mail.

TWO HUNTERS PAY FINES ON OPENING DAY

Two hunters have been fined for violations of the state game laws in Adams county but this county so far has been free of hunting accidents. Game Protector Leo Bushman said Monday night after a day in the fields and woods.

A half hour before the season opened Saturday morning, Pius Thomas Sneeringer, Linden avenue, Midway, was fined $15 for shooting at game before the 9 o'clock opening of the small game season.

Later that day Mr. Bushman collected a $50 fine from Sidney H. Smith, Pasadena, Md., as a non-resident, hunting without a Pennsylvania license. He was caught in Tyrone township.

Game Plentiful

Mr. Bushman said that the number of hunters in the field on Saturday was unusually light for an opening day. The small number of hunters afield here was due in part to the fact that many go elsewhere in the state for game birds. The late cancellation of the ban on hunting also may have contributed, he said.

Small game generally is reported plentiful in most sections of Adams county, the game protector said. The supply of rabbits and squirrels is "very good" and "there seems to be a lot of pheasants but not many quail have been reported killed so far."

Mr. Bushman called to hunters' attention a change in the state game law which requires all persons involved in a hunting accident to make a report to the state game commission within 72 hours. Forms for the duplicate reports are available from Mr. Bushman.

The small game season continues through November with the exception of the season for grouse which ends Saturday.

SEEK PUC RULE FOR CROSSING MINUS LIGHTS

The matter of the extension of West Lincoln avenue across the tracks of the Reading railroad to the plant of the Inductive Equipment corporation was brought up again at Monday night's meeting of the borough council and Councilman Harry Troxell and Borough Engineer LeRoy H. Winebrenner were delegated to appear before the Public Utilities Commission in Harrisburg to learn whether the crossing can be built without the installation of "flasher" lights.

Fears were expressed that the PUC would not consent to the crossing being laid without the lights, which the borough has already offered to do. The discussion developed the question whether the borough must put in the crossing or whether the company benefited should do so. Council was opposed to spending an estimated $3,000 as its share of the cost of installing lights.

Seek Light Survey

More than 100 persons are employed at the Inductive Equipment plant. Councilman Wilbur Stall-smith said. Between 40 and 50 cars are driven to the plant daily and three buses make trips there as well as other vehicles, he said.

187 MOTORISTS FINED IN TOWN DURING MONTH

One hundred and eighty-seven motorists paid fines of $1 each in October for various violations of local parking ordinances, Burgess C. A. Heiges reported to the borough council Monday night at its meeting in the engine house.

Total fines collected amounted to $187, this report showed. Two fines were imposed for parking by a red line and one each for parking in a restricted zone, double parking and parking in an alley.

Harpster said three burglaries were reported and one of the reports was unfounded. There were 29 juvenile cases, mostly arising from Halloween pranks, in which five arrests were made. Six automobile accidents were reported, involving 10 cars and damage of $235. Five persons paid fines of $5 and costs each for ignoring parking tickets, the report said. Five hundred and sixty-two of the borough's 3,174 voters had balloted up to 1 o'clock this afternoon, with the largest vote being recorded in the second ward, where 182 ballots had been cast.

The figure this year was slightly ahead of the number voting up to 1 o'clock at the general election in 1943, when the same offices were contested. At that time 510 had gone to the polls.

The vote was:

	1947	1943
1st W., 1st P.	111	110
1st W., 2nd P.	144	161
Second Ward	182	170
Third Ward	155	129

Totals 562 510

COUNCIL WILL NAME OFFICER AT NEXT MEET

Borough council took no action at its regular meeting Monday night in the engine house on the appointment of a policeman to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Patrolman Albert L. Welford. Councilman Harry J. Troxell, chairman of the safety committee, requested that the matter be deferred to the December meeting.

The Civil Service Commission reported four names on the eligible list, as follows: Stanley E. Sprankel, 32 per cent; Melvin H. Spence, 79 per cent; Joseph A. Reaver, 65 per cent; and Ray J. Little, 60 per cent. Little and Sprankel took the police examination May 16, and Reaver and Spence were examined October 29.

Defer Decisions

Council deferred action on a proposal that authorization be given for borough employees to join the Blue Cross hospitalization plan. Richard D. Rife, Chambersburg, representing the Capital Hospital Service, Harrisburg, appeared before council to explain the plan. If authorized, he said, borough employees could pay through a payroll deduction plan or the borough could make the payments.

A proposal to adopt a police pension fund for the borough was referred to the safety committee for a report in December. Carl Bechdel, Harrisburg, representing the Fidelity Mutual Life Insurance company of Philadelphia, who appeared before council in the matter a year ago, said that tax money is available from the state to set up the pension plan. The borough would act as trustee, and make the first premium payment, for which it would be reimbursed.

Miss Truman Splits Critics, Wins Crowd

Fort Worth, Tex., Nov. 4 (P)—Miss Margaret Truman's first appearance in the southwest brought mixed comment from the critics today but the President's daughter was warmly received by an audience of 2,500.

E. Clyde Whitlock, music critic of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, and Pericles Alexander, assistant music critic of the Dallas Morning News, both were more impressed with the lighter numbers presented in the recital last night than in portions from Mozart's "Le Nozze Di Figaro."

"There are vocal faults, licks and limitations," Whitlock wrote, "but it is significant that they are amenable under understanding guidance."

Whitlock said the President's daughter "completely captured her audience by her sincerity, her naturalness and her unspooled charm," adding "she has remained close to her native Missouri soil and the people love her for it."

Fashion Spies Seek Wedding Gown Tips

London, Nov. 4 (P)—International fashion spies have been making repeated and persistent efforts to bribe access to the secrets of Princess Elizabeth's wedding gown and going-away outfit, but so far in vain, a high official of Norma Hartnell's salon reported today.

A firm of private detectives has been employed; the fashion salon has an intricate burglar alarm system, and Hartnell has spread the word so that only a handful of the most trusted workers have seen the sketched designs or know what the completed clothes look like.

Driver Hurt, Car Damaged In Crash

C. H. Reed of York, a salesman for the Cleaver Auto Parts company, was injured in an accident on the White Hall road about a mile and a half from Littlestown about 4:45 p. m. Monday.

Reed was driving down a grade on the wet macadam road when three horses crossed in front of him. In order to avoid hitting the horses, Reed turned over the bank into a ditch on the George Crabbs farm. It required the services of the R. A. White garage, Littlestown, and the Kuhn Auto Sales and Service company, Hanover to get the car back on the road. It was then towed to White's garage, Littlestown.

Mr. Reed suffered several broken ribs. He was treated by a Littlestown physician and taken to his home in York by R. A. White. The damage to the car has been estimated between $800 and $900.

IRISH REMAIN TOP TEAM IN AP GRID POLL

By JOE REICHLER

New York, Nov. 4 (AP)—Notre Dame's unbeaten and untied eleven, which Coach Frank Leahy admits "has finally reached its true stride," remained the number one college football team in the nation today in the weekly Associated Press poll or sports writers.

The South Bend gridders face their biggest test of the campaign Saturday when they meet Army in final game of a long series between the traditional rivals. Cadet Coach Earl Blaik predicted the Irish would throw all of their manpower and strategic resources into the game.

Michigan's Wolverines who kept their state clean by defeating a tough Illinois team 14-7 in a grueling game that might well have decided the big nine's Rose Bowl representative, retained second place.

SMU In Third Place
Southern Methodist, upset victor over previously unbeaten Texas by the slim margin of one point, surprised by taking over third spot from the Longhorns. The Mustangs made the biggest gain of the week, vaulting from eighth place, Penn. Southern California, Georgia Tech, Penn State, Texas, Army and Virginia followed in that order.

The point score showed Notre Dame on top at 1,731 with Michigan not far behind at 1,661. SMU's third place total was 1,187, 51 more than the 1,136 points Penn polled to retain fourth place. Besides Penn, fifth place Southern California (1,082), sixth place Georgia Tech (1,041) and seventh place Penn State (701) held on to their positions of seven days ago. Of the trio, only Georgia Tech is expected to get more than a workout next Saturday. The Yellow Jackets meet off beaten but dangerous Navy.

Texas On Skids
The biggest drop of the week was experienced by Texas which skidded five berths into eighth place with only 553 points as a result of its 14-13 setback by the Mustangs.

Army's 65-13 thumping of Washington and Lee earned the cadets a step up the ladder into ninth place with 291 votes. Unbeaten and untied Virginia, in 12th position last week, climbed into the big ten by polling 248 votes.

Team standings with points figured on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis (first place votes in parenthesis):
1—Notre Dame (106) 1731
2—Michigan (56) 1661
3—Southern Methodist (7) 1187
4—Pennsylvania (8) 1136
5—Southern California (2) 1082
6—Georgia Tech (6) 1041
7—Penn State (2) 701
8—Texas 553
9—Army 291
10—Virginia 248
11. Illinois, 177; 12. California, 86; 13. Duke, 71; 14. Purdue, 66; 15. William and Mary, 44; 16. Alabama, 41; 17. Columbia, 27; 18. North Carolina, 18; 19. Wisconsin, 17; 20. Yale, 13.

SEE VIRGINIA AS TOUGH FOE

Philadelphia, Nov. 4 (AP)—Penn and Virginia, both undefeated and touch-down happy, battle it out here Saturday in a game that may provide an answer to Penn's chances of hanging up its first unblemished record in 39 years.

George Munger, quiet-spoken young coach of the Ivy league co-leaders, refuses to rate Virginia with either the Army or Cornell—which lie ahead for Penn. But many observers feel the Cavaliers are about the toughest customers still to be met.

Penn has not had an unbeaten campaign since 1908, when Coach Sol Metzger's eleven won 11 games and tied one.

"We're no super-duper team," moaned Munger today as he brought out the first trying towel for the big intersectional test.

"Virginia has a great team. They've scored five touchdowns in every game. No, I wouldn't rate them with Army. We look ahead only to the team we play each week."

Scouts spoke to him in glowing terms about Virginia—but Munger had only to think of the 47-0 pasting the Cavaliers gave Harvard.

The Cavaliers, operating from a "T" fashioned by their twin coaches—Art and Al Guise—have amassed 222 points in chipping down six opponents. Of the major undefeated clubs, only Penn State (263) and Michigan (249) have piled up more points.

Virginia whipped George Washington in its opener 33-13, then subdued, in order, V.P.I. (41-0), Harvard, Washington & Lee (32-7), V.M.I. (35-6), and Richmond (34-0).

Penn, in five games, has rolled up 172 points.

Lehigh Swimmers Begin Training

The team opens its schedule Dec. 13 against Dickinson college and then clashes with Gettysburg, Rutgers, Franklin and Marshall, Lafayette, Pennsylvania, Swarthmore, Delaware and Temple.

Veterans Of Caps Lead In Scoring

New York, Nov. 4 (AP)—Veterans Cliff Simpson and Fern Gauthier of the Indianapolis Capitals are deadlocked for the American Hockey league's individual scoring honors today.

The two linemen, who failed to make the first 10 last week, have collected 17 points apiece and enjoy a two-point advantage over Buffalo's Murdo McKay.

Simpson also tops the circuit in the goal-getting with 10 while Gauthier is tied with Philadelphia's Wally Stefanis for garnering the most assists, 10.

Eddie Kobussen of Springfield, Whitey Prokop of Providence and Ken Schultz of Washington are tied for fourth place in the point race with 13 points each.

Rookie Ken Davies of New Haven, who topped the loop in scoring a week ago, is tied along with three other skaters for ninth place.

Baz Bastien, Pittsburgh's all-star goalie, has the best goals-against average, 2.22 and Philadelphia's George Defelice has spent the most time in the penalty box, 32 minutes.

VILLANOVA AND KENTUCKY SIGN FOR BOWL GAME

Cleveland, Nov. 4 (AP)—Villanova and Kentucky will match football power at Cleveland stadium December 6 when the city inaugurates its annual Great Lakes bowl game.

The Wildcats from neighboring Kentucky and the Wildcats from neighboring Pennsylvania agreed yesterday to play in the post-season grid event sponsored by the Knights of Columbus here to raise funds for an athletic program for greater Cleveland youngsters.

Athletic Director Bernard Shively of Kentucky signed contracts here for the Blue Grass school's first football "bowl" appearance and Athletic Director Rev. F. E. B. McKee of Villanova accepted by telephone shortly afterward.

At the request of the competing schools, the cash guarantee to the participants was not made public, but previous reports were $30,000 would go to each contestant.

Both Beaten Twice
Villanova, a Catholic school with an enrollment of about 1,000, and Kentucky, with five times as many students, have tasted defeat on the gridiron twice this fall. Last year Villanova won six and lost four in football, and Kentucky took seven of 10 in its first season under Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant.

Coach Jordan Oliver, a 1938 Villanova alumnus, has piloted his eleven to victories this season over Kings Point (60-0), Holy Cross (13-6), and Detroit (14-12). His gridders tied Miami, Fla., 7-7, and lost to Army 13-0 and Boston college 6-0. Games with Marquette, Georgetown and San Francisco are still to come.

Coach Bryant, once a star right end for Alabama, lost to the Crimson Tide of his alma Mater 13-0 last week and dropped the season opener to Mississippi 14-7. In between, his Wildcats recorded five triumphs—over Cincinnati 20-0, Xavier (of Cincinnati) 20-7, Georgia 26-0, Vanderbilt 14-0 and Michigan State 7-6.

Dick Thompson, manager of the Gettysburg Merchants' basketball team, today made an appeal for candidates.

Drills will be started as soon as enough candidates report. College players, who are not candidates for the varsity and freshman teams, will be welcomed as will other players. Those who will report are asked to contact the manager at Thompson's restaurant.

The Merchants expect to play their first game here Saturday, November 22.

GOLF QUALIFIER

Pinehurst, N. C., Nov. 4 (AP)—Eight Pennsylvanians were among the qualifiers for the North and South open golf tournament which opens here today. They included Jack Groat of Harrisburg, 36-36-71.

SEVEN SENIORS IN FINAL FOR CHS GRIDDERS

When the Gettysburg high school football team closes its season by meeting Mechanicsburg high in a South Penn conference game on the local gridiron Friday evening, seven lads will be concluding their schoolboy football careers.

Included in the group are five of the "unsung" heroes, lads who play on the line and who seldom receive the plaudits they justly deserve. They have little chance to draw attention when a back breaks away for a long run or a pass is completed but their play is just as important as that of any other man.

Four are expected to start against the Wildcats, Bill Shull, 171, and Bob Foth, 158, both tackles, will be missing next season. Both have come along nicely during the season and have been stalwarts throughout the campaign.

Tom Hemingway, a scrappy 146-pound guard, and Bob Shetter, 148-pound center, are the other starters on the line who graduate. Their play has been particularly noteworthy in the last few weeks. The fifth lineman, Jake Yingling, 163, will probably not start but is certain to see action. Yingling took over the wing position temporarily when Westerdahl fell a victim to a cold several weeks ago and his play left little to be desired.

Only two backs will be lost. They include Reggie Dunkinson, 146, who has piloted the Maroons in fine style and threw a large portion of the passes. Jack Ridinger, 140, halfback, is now one of the most improved ball carriers on the squad and is a constant threat.

The heavy rain on Monday forced the squad to hold its drill in the gymnasium but out-of-doors.

Jim Nunemaker, sub back, who suffered a cracked left ankle while playing with the Jayvies at Carlisle last Thursday night, is about on crutches and returned to classes Monday.

STIFF TESTS FOR TEACHERS

Philadelphia, Nov. 4 (AP)—Two of the state's leading teachers college eleven—Mansfield and Shippensburg—face strong opposition this week end that may decide their ultimate spot in the standings.

Mansfield, with a record of three wins and one tie this season in conference competition, meets Indiana teachers, a team that has risen to sixth place in the standings with two victories, one loss and a tie, principally due to the running of Dan Carlson.

Shippensburg, which gained its fifth win in six starts over Millersville 13-0 last Saturday, visits Lock Haven, winners over Alliance last week end 59-0.

West Chester, with two conference wins and no losses, takes on a weak City College of New York eleven. The West Chester Rams have won seven straight this year, including last week's 35-0 triumph over Rider college of Trenton, N. J.

Slippery Rock, leading the teacher circuit with three wins and no defeats in conference play, entertains tough Geneva after losing its first game of the season last week to Grove city 20-6 for an overall record of four wins, one tie and one loss.

In other contests this week Bloomsburg faces East Stroudsburg, Edinboro meets Alliance, California clashes with Potomac State and Bethany opposes Clarion.

Two State Teams High For Trophy

New York, Nov. 4 (AP)—This week's grid games will have considerable bearing on the ultimate outcome of the 1947 campaign in the East to determine the Lambert trophy winner and Eastern champion.

Penn and Penn State moved into a tie for the lead in the trophy committee's ratings, both notched at 980 points. Army has 978 going against Notre Dame on Saturday. Penn takes on Virginia, while Penn State meets Temple.

Probably the key game of the trophy selection is scheduled at Philadelphia next week when Penn and Army clash.

Behind Army in the week's ratings are Boston college, Yale, Villanova, Columbia, West Virginia, Navy, Pitt and Cornell, in that order.

TWO OUT FOR SEASON
West Chester, Pa., Nov. 4 (AP)—Halfback Frank Miller and tackle Russ Polinko are out of action for the remainder of the Pennsylvania Military college football season. Miller sustained a fractured ankle in the Drexel game last week while Polinko has been hampered by an injury received in the season's opening game.

Billy Conn Quits Ring Battles At 30

Pittsburgh, Nov. 4 (AP)—Billy Conn, who was 30 last October 8, says he's through with the ring because he feels old age creeping up on him, even though he is still convinced he can "lick most of the guys around today in the heavyweight division."

The man who lost twice by KO's to Joe Louis said, "I'll never fight in competition again."

"That training grade is too tough for a fellow my age," he explained. "Besides, I'm a father with three great kids and for their sake I can't afford to risk getting permanently hurt."

SAY WHITE SOX WILL PAY FINE

Chicago, Nov. 4 (AP)—Directors of the Chicago White Sox planned a formal meeting today to discuss the club's suspension from baseball and there were reports they already had agreed in secret to pay the $500 fine which would reinstate the Sox without delay.

At St. Thomas college in St. Paul, student Charles Comiskey, future owner of the White Sox, was quoted by the Minneapolis Tribune as saying that the $500 fine would be paid today by one of the directors at the office of Commissioner A. B. Chandler in Cincinnati. This would automatically restore the White Sox to good graces and make them eligible for the American league player-draft meeting in Cincinnati Monday.

The St. Paul Pioneer press said the "Young Roman" was on the telephone most of yesterday talking with directors in Chicago and that the agreement was reached.

Leslie O'Connor, general manager of the club and member of the board, denied there had been any such meeting and declared that the directors would convene formally today to discuss procedure in the case. O'Connor was barred, along with the Sox, from all baseball activities for refusing to pay the fine for alleged violations of the regulation prohibiting the signing of high school players.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
New York, Nov. 4 (AP)—College football this year is just about as good as it can be—a lot better than during the "golden era" following World War I—says Brown Coach Rip Engle.

So the coaching profession will have to turn to psychology to get an edge over the opposition. . . . Rip doesn't claim anyone actually has taken that step, but he relates that when his Brown team played Princeton, an ambulance drew up outside the room where he was making his pre-game talk.

The driver leaned on the siren and kept it blasting until Engle abandoned his speech and the Brown players didn't realize until half time that the ambulance was used by both teams, if necessary.

"I didn't believe Charley Caldwell or Princeton would try such a stunt, so I investigated," Rip explains. "I found it was a town ambulance and the driver was very much interested in the game—and he had spent two years in the army in the Psychological Warfare Department."

HIGHLAND FLING

When Jim Lookabaugh brought his Oklahoma A. and M. team east to play Temple, he encountered Coach Greasy Neale of the Philadelphia Eagles. . . . Football has gone too open, Neale was moaning, you just throw the ball anywhere at any time. . . . Since Temple was the favorite, Lookabaugh decided that was a good hint and he told his Aggies to get in there and pitch, regardless of caution. . . . Well, the score tells the rest: Aggies, 26; Temple, 0.

DOTS ALL, BROTHERS

Sam (Sugar Bowl) Corenswet, insists there's nothing at all in the persistent reports that Notre Dame is turning willing ears toward the New Orleans New Year's Day game.

"We never even start looking for teams until the season is over," says Sam (Oh, yeah?). "But we'd be silly not to take Notre Dame if we could get them." . . . Virginia rooters (two trainloads, plus) will be waving those Confederate flags at the Penn game Saturday.

This recalls the remark heard outside the Yale Bowl a few years ago: "Those Virginia boys played a fine game, but I can't understand why so many of their rooters were waving those British Union Jacks."

Hamilton, N. Y., Nov. 4 (AP)—Quarterback Charles Bricker, of Beaver Falls, Pa., is expected to return to action for Colgate against Holy Cross Saturday after being on the injured list for last Saturday's game with Penn State.

VOTE TODAY ON CATHOLIC HIGH PIAA RELATIONS

By TOM SHRIVER
Harrisburg, Nov. 4 (AP)—District committees of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association prepared today to vote on a proposal to provide for continued athletic relations between the state's public and Catholic high schools.

The plan, in the form of a constitutional amendment, was approved at a two-day meeting of the PIAA Board of Control yesterday. Each district committee must now approve or reject the proposal prior to the annual membership meeting in December.

Under terms of the amendment Catholic schools will be permitted to continue the use of part-time coaches providing they are approved by the superintendent of the Catholic diocese in which the school is located, by the principal of the Catholic school, and by the PIAA district committee in which the Catholic school is located.

Rule On Transfers
A change was also proposed in the migratory rule to provide that any student transferring from one school to another, even within the district, must remain out of all athletic competition for a period of one year. This conforms with Catholic school regulations and changes the PIAA rule which now makes a student who transfers within the district eligible after ninety days.

Several other amendments were approved by the Board of Control, and all will be submitted to the membership for vote. These include stricter control of all-star football games, change in method of awarding sweaters, jackets, or other trophies to athletes, and a change in the section of the constitution covering the statute of limitations which will provide, if adopted, that: "A district committee, or the board of control, shall not be required to consider a protest after one year has elapsed from the date of the alleged infraction of the constitution of the PIAA."

Another change provides that a voting membership be given on the district committee to one school director who shall be elected to the committee by the school directors of boards within the district. This change adds one more member to each of the twelve district committees.

New Members

The following schools made application for membership in the PIAA and were approved by the board of control:

District Two—Moscow Senior High.

District Four—Milton Junior.

District Five—Quemahoning-Stoyestown High and Stonycreek Township Junior.

District Six—Huston Township Senior High.

District Nine—Clarion Junior, Clarion-Limestone Junior, and Clay-Cherry-West Sunbury High.

RACE IS CLOSE FOR OFFENSIVE HONORS IN AA

By GAIL FOWLER
New York, Nov. 4 (AP)—The individual race for total offense honors in the All-American Football conference is as close as the next step.

Because that's the margin—one yard—by which Otto Graham of the defending champion Cleveland Browns, wrested honors from Urban "Spec" Sanders of the New York Yankees in last Sunday's pro games.

Graham completed 13 out of 16 passes for 256 yards and three touchdowns to defeat Buffalo's eastern division leaders, 28-7, to give the Browns a total of 1,710 yards on the ground and in the air.

Breaks 3 Records
This shot him a yard ahead of Sanders, who incidentally cracked three AAFC records in leading the Yanks to their 35-21 victory over Baltimore. Sanders now has 1,709 passing and running yards, of which 774 were on the ground, giving him leadership in rushing offense.

Chet Murney of Buffalo retained his kickoff return lead with 17 for a record total of 558 yards. The leaders:

Total offense—Gains rushing and passing—Graham, Cleveland, 1,710 yards; Sanders, New York, 1,709; Schwenk, Baltimore, 1,467; Ratterman, Buffalo, 1,290; Albert, San Francisco, 1,284.

Rushing offense—Sanders, New York, 774 yards; Murney, Buffalo, 670; Strzykalski, San Francisco, 638; Motley, Cleveland, 544; Standee, San Francisco, 441.

Forward Passing
Forward passing offense—Graham, Cleveland, 104 completed of 164 for 1,663 yards; Schwenk, Baltimore, 113 of 215 for 1,422; Ratterman, Buffalo, 90 of 173 for 1,344; Albert, San Francisco, 83 of 155 for 1,154; O'Rourke, Los Angeles, 70 of 126 for 1,131.

Punting—Gillom, Cleveland, 45.8 yards average per punt; Lewis, Chicago, 38.9.

Pass receiving—Speedie Cleveland, 50 caught for 845 yards; Davis, Baltimore, 36 for 378.

Scoring—Sanders, New York, 13 touchdowns for 78 points; Kimbrough, Los Angeles, nine touchdowns for 54.

Punt returns—Sanders, New York, 149 yards on five returns; Hillenbrand, Baltimore, 144 on seven.

Kickoff returns—Murney, Buffalo, 558 yards on 17 returns; Hillenbrand, Baltimore, 358 on 13.

Says Untested Bolts Hold Up Penn Statue

Philadelphia, Nov. 4 (AP)—Only eight eyeballs which have not been serviced nor tested scientifically in 53 years hold the 26-ton statue of William Penn atop City hall, says Judson F. Vogdes, an engineer appointed by city council to make an exhaustive survey to determine if the statue is safe.

Vogdes said yesterday the bolts are in an almost inaccessible position and have had only "visual examination." They appear sturdy, he added. The statue was placed atop City Hall in 1894.

Carl A. Ziegler, a Philadelphia architect, previously said the statue is "a dangerous menace to life and should be removed."

Thomas Buckley, director of public works, denied Ziegler's assertion. Buckley added that four steeplejacks have removed approximately 13 tons of metal from the tower as a safety measure. Vogdes will continue a survey to determine what should be done to insure continued stability of the statue.

WATER MUSIC

Water in nature has always fascinated me. I like to hear its voice. It may be but a tiny creek, but if it flows, even though its voice may be but a whisper, it enlarges life. So do the river, the lake, and the ocean. And each contributes its own composition in music. The most fascinating thing about Niagara is not its great fall of water, but the song that it sings. Powerful, echoing, and challenging. Then there is the music of the smaller waterfall. Each has a different song to sing. Soothing and full of peace. The water oozes loves the falls of water, and so builds its nest near by, or upon the brink of it, and so delights in the accompaniment to its own joyous outburst.

Wherever water flows there is to be noted its music. The waves washing the rocky coast of a lake, or those of the ocean sweeping their notes upon the clean white sand along the shore. The silent song of one's heart melts into such music. Wordsworth loved the sound of waters in his ears, and he speaks of "the dripping of the oar suspended," comparing it to that of the torrent. Many years ago I tapped a hill, where I bought land with my home, and for years a gentle fall of water fell from the edges of the pool which I had built—but nearby blasting seemed to destroy the earth vein and the waterfall, and its orchestral song became silent. Thus did the value of all the land about decrease in value to me, because I felt that a friend had gone.

So full of interest and beauty were all the old mill water-wheels that took the waters from above and played with them as they fell—always with a song on every whirl of the wheel. Even in the rainfall is there music, especially as it dashes upon the rooftops and streets, and swirls into gutters and ditches.

How full of beauty is the stream with great rocks filling its bottom, as the water dashes and dodges on its way, an improvised song throughout its breadth and length! Without music in our heart, who could appreciate and love all the water songs that Nature so generously affords to him who would but appreciate?

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "The Undiscovered."

Wedding Bells: Blocher-Huber: The wedding of Miss Gertrude Huber, daughter of Rev. Eli Huber, D.D., and Prothonotary John M. Blocher, was quietly solemnized at the home of the bride on Carlisle street on Thursday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock.

Rev. Charles Huber, Principal of the Preparatory Department, assisted by Rev. Eli Huber, performed the ceremony. None but the immediate relatives were present.

The bride was becomingly attired in a traveling dress of imported broadcloth and carried a bunch of white roses. After the ceremony the happy couple assembled with their friends in the spacious dining room which was tastefully decorated.

Fatal Accident: Frank Ziegler, 19, son of Wallace Ziegler, of this place, was instantly killed at Hanover Tuesday morning. Mr. Ziegler was one of the linemen on the new telephone line, and while stringing the wires which came in contact with the electric light wires, received 3,000 volts through his body.

The funeral occurred on Wednesday afternoon from his home on East Middle street. The services were conducted by Rev. A. R. Steck. The pallbearers were Daniel Wiest, William Codori, Charles Ramer and Harry Rupp. The interment was in Evergreen cemetery.

His Sixth Anniversary: On Thursday evening the pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben H. Culp, York street, was visited by quite a crowd of children, numbering about 42, besides a number of older folks, who had gathered to spend the evening with their bright little son, Charles, it being the sixth anniversary of his birth. Charles entertained his little guests for several hours in various ways of amusement, after which they partook of a bounteous supply of refreshments.

Football: In the football game on Saturday afternoon the aborigines proved too much for the natives. The former excelled both in tactical and muscular work, the score being 22 to 0 in favor of the Indians. But it is no disgrace for our boys to be beaten by a team of such acknowledged superiority.

Local Miscellany: Owing to the efficient action of the Burgess but little disorder was manifested on Halloween night. The services of the Sheriff were not called into requisition as was the case last year.

FATHERLY CONCERN

The boy who heeds his father will not suffer much remorse. He'll cash no checks for strangers and their notes he won't endorse. But there never was a father at least none I ever saw Who didn't tell his youngster these are foolish things to do.

The boy who heeds his father will not throw his life away. He'll know the various follies that have led good men astray. For there never was a father, at least none that's known to me, Who didn't want his youngster to be wiser than was he.

The boy who heeds his father will learn all he can at school. He'll know that fame and fortune scorn the idler and the fool. For there never was a father who didn't warn his son, However he was tempted, not to do as he had done.

John G. Winant
EX-DIPLOMAT,
TAKES OWN LIFE

Concord, N. H., Nov. 4 (AP)—John G. Winant, 58, former ambassador to the court of St. James, committed suicide last night by shooting himself in the head with a bullet fired from a .32 calibre Belgian pistol.

His private secretary, J. Bernard Teulon, said in a statement issued early today that the death weapon was one of two pistols found in the bedroom where his body was discovered. The other, a .32 German Luger, apparently had been thrown against the wall when he couldn't find ammunition.

Teulon said that Winant had not been in good health since the summer, but that he had continued work on his memoirs, even completing a section of the second volume yesterday.

He ate lunch downstairs, but had dinner served in his room. No one saw him after dinner. Teulon said he died at 8:20 p. m., about an hour after the diplomat had fired the fatal shot in his head. He did not regain consciousness, passing away while his personal physician, Dr. James W. Jameson, was administering to him.

Mrs. Winant, who was notified in New York of his death, arrived at Concord airport in a state of collapse in a chartered plane early today. She went immediately to the family home.

Medical Referee Clarence E. Butterfield pronounced Winant a suicide and said he had shot himself while alone in a bedroom of one of his sons. A single shot had been fired.

Was In Low Spirits

Notification went to two sons John, Jr. of Princeton, N. J., and Rivington, a student at Oxford, England, and a daughter, Mrs. Carlos De Velando of Lima, Peru.

Miss Irene Mason, secretary of the three-governor of New Hampshire, told officials he had been suffering "mental and physical fatigue," while Miss Orol Mears, a maid in the Winant home, said he "seemed to be in low spirits."

"They said they heard no shot but were attracted by the thump of Winant's body. They rushed from the first floor study to find him lying in his room."

National Figure

Winant returned to private life last December when he asked President Truman to relieve him of his post as permanent U. S. representative on the United Nations economic and social council, to which the president had named him in 1946, after he left his ambassador's office.

He wanted, he said, to "pick up life again as a private citizen in my own country."

As Republican governor of New Hampshire—the only man ever to serve three terms—Winant, an outspoken critic against politics, as such, set up several agencies for social and labor betterment. His ideas caught on throughout the nation.

ASK CLARK TO PROBE PCA RIOT

New York, Nov. 4 (AP)—U. S. Attorney General Tom Clark has been urged by the Progressive Citizens of America to investigate a meeting of PCA's east Pennsylvania chapter last week which was disrupted by hecklers hurling boos, catcalls and stench bombs.

The Philadelphia meeting was called to protest the Hollywood phase of an investigation currently being made by the House un-American activities committee.

In a letter sent Clark last night, PCA-Co-chairmen Robert W. Kenny and Frank Kingdon asked Clark to begin an immediate investigation "into recent assaults upon the rights of free expression and peaceful assembly such as desecrated Philadelphia's Independence Square meeting Saturday."

"For many months," the letter continued, "we have warned that the witch hunt hysteria instigated by the (Rep. J. Parnell) Thomas committee in Washington would lead to just such reverberations on the local level as occurred in Philadelphia and other cities in recent weeks."

Until the committee is abolished, the co-chairmen wrote, "its very existence will continue to be interpreted as the go-ahead sign for defamation of civil liberties throughout the nation."

Decline Comment On Threat Of 'Boycott'

Philadelphia, Nov. 4 (AP)—Officials of two Philadelphia theaters declined comment today on a threatened boycott of their theaters by Catholics of the Philadelphia archdiocese.

The impending boycott was contained in identical letters sent by Dennis Cardinal Dougherty to William Goldman, owner of the Erlanger theater where "The Outlaw" is being shown, and to 20th Century Fox, Inc., owner of the Fox theater where "Forever Amber" is the attraction.

The cardinal said he had written the theater owners he would direct "all Catholics in this (Philadelphia) archdiocese to boycott for one year" the two theaters for exhibiting pictures classified by the National Catholic Legion of Decency as "wholly objectionable" unless they complied with his warning in 48 hours.

At the Goldman office it was announced that the cardinal's letter had been received. Lyle Trenchard, general manager for the Goldman theaters, said there was no comment. Goldman, the general manager added, now is in California.

Readings on the topic were presented by the Misses Evelyn Harget, Betty Yealy and Dolores Rae Reinholdt, after which there was an informal discussion of the topic in charge of Miss Myers. The leader for next Sunday evening will be Miss Evelyn Harget.

Scoutmaster Alton Bowers, Assistant Scoutmaster Wilbur Mackley and Luther Snyder, member of the Troop committee of Troop No. 84 of the Boy Scouts, visited the camp site at Natural Dam on Sunday afternoon which the troop has leased. Grave-side services in charge of a United States Marine chaplain were conducted at 11:30 a. m., Monday, in Arlington Memorial cemetery, Port Myers, Va., for Lloyd S. Underhill, who lately had been residing at the Central hotel, Littlestown, and died Wednesday morning in the Littlestown ambulance, the result of a heart attack, while he was being removed to the Warner hospital. The pallbearers were six United States Marines and there was a firing squad in charge of the commanding officer.

J. A. Little and Son, funeral directors had charge of Mr. Underhill's services and there was a public viewing at the funeral parlor Sunday evening. They removed the body to Arlington Memorial cemetery early Monday morning.

The Youth Fellowship of Redeemer's Reformed church held a brief meeting on Sunday evening. After a song service, the topic, "My Faith and My School" was discussed by the leader, Charles Hall, and a number of the members. In the business session which followed, the group decided to sell home-made salted

At the Goldman office it was announced that the cardinal's letter had been received. Lyle Trenchard, general manager for the Goldman theaters, said there was no comment. Goldman, the general manager added, now is in California.

Mother Of 9 Resists Eviction Attempts

New York, Nov. 4 (AP)—Prepared for what she called a long "seize," a 42-year-old mother of nine children locked herself and two of her off-spring in their $28-a-month home yesterday, resisting all attempts by police and building department inspectors to evict her because the building has been condemned as unsafe for occupancy.

Police turned back the father, Andrew McDonald, and the children who were attending school when they returned home yesterday afternoon. But Mrs. McDonald and the two other children held the fort inside.

Mrs. McDonald told reporters through the window "The holidays are coming and I want my family together."

City officials have offered to help the family find living quarters if it would consent to separate into smaller groups.

AUTUMN SHRUBS WITH BERRIES GOOD ALL YEAR

Berry-bearing trees and shrubs, which bring such intensely ornamental qualities to the late summer and autumn garden, frequently have other special characteristics that class them among the most valuable plant material for year-round home-ground beauty. The Washington Hawthorn (Crataegus phaenopyrum, sometimes listed as C. cordata) is an example. Besides a display of brilliant red berries in September that persist well into the winter, this small tree has showy clusters of white flowers in May and June and dark green summer foliage.

The leaves change to orange and scarlet in autumn, and, after they fall, reveal a dense head of thorn-armed branches that contribute a rugged winter appearance. If the lower branches are removed and the tree is headed up properly there is little danger from the long straight thorns, and it forms a most acceptable shade and ornamental specimen for the small-home grounds. It grows with an upright rather than spreading shape to a height of 25 to 30 feet.

Asiatic Sweetleaf Good
Another small tree — or large, broad shrub with a thickly branched, round-topped head typical of the hawthorns — is the Asiatic sweetleaf (Symplocos paniculata). It develops slowly to a height of 20 feet. In May, numerous panicles of fuzzy white and cream-colored flowers stand out clearly against bright green leaves. It is in September, however, that this plant contributes its most unusual ornamental quality. Clusters of berry-like fruits develop then to their full turquoise-blue color; although the birds will not permit the display to be long lived, it is a glorious one.

The sweetleaf has thornless branches that may be permitted to develop from the ground up to furnish a lawn or garden specimen or an interesting plant toward the back of the group or near the border planting. It is not difficult to picture this plant in close association with yucca, cactus, clematis, fraxinella, or other orange-red fruiting shrubs, closing the season for color combinations.

Not far behind the Asiatic sweetleaf with respect to berries of unusual color is the Chinese beautyberry (Callicarpa purpurea, sometimes listed as C. dichotoma). Although there are abundant pale pink flowers in August, it is for the autumn display of lilac-colored berries — arranged in round clusters spaced closely along the branches — that this bushy shrub is planted.

Use Tree Food From Spring Until Autumn

Timely and proper feeding is as vital to the health and longevity of trees as it is to humans. Modern tree dietetics has relegated some feeding bugaboos to the horse-and-buggy category.

Today it is standard practice to feed trees any time the ground is not frozen. The idea of feeding only in the spring was fostered by two theories now thoroughly disproved. One assumed that midsummer feedings induced late growth and improper maturity leading to probable "winter kill." The other contended that fertilizers applied after the danger of stimulating growth was past were useless because the tree could not use the nutrients before spring.

Trees thrive on a properly balanced diet. They require heavy concentrations of nitrogen — specifically as much nitrogen as phosphorus and potassium combined. Thus, general crop fertilizers are insufficient. A special tree food, inserted in the ground about eighteen inches to reach the roots directly, is required to do the job properly. It is believed that fall feedings increase resistance to low winter temperatures.

The first elective office Abraham Lincoln ever sought was in the Illinois legislature. He ran seventh in a group of 10 candidates.

The growing of a legume crop before tobacco may be undesirable, due to the fact that the nitrogen supply can not be controlled.

NEWS FROM THE FARM FRONT

Farm machinery prices have not risen as fast as farm income, according to a government survey. For example, at July 15 price levels, 171 pounds of butterfat would buy a medium-sized cream separator while 315 pounds of butterfat were required to purchase the same kind of separator at 1935-1939 prices.

Many commercial potato growers come several useful chemicals, including the crop, particularly to reduce storage rots from late blight. This year many growers have asked about the use of 2, 4-D for this purpose. The answer is — NO. Agricultural authorities are warning against this experimentation. It is dangerous.

Studies show that the elimination of one short trip for operating milking machines through more efficient dairy barn arrangements saves approximately 15 miles of travel each year.

In 1900 American farmers applied 298,000 tons of limestone and other liming materials; by 1945 application totals reached 6,658,000 tons, mostly in the form of ground limestone.

After several years of experiments to devise a means of fermenting certain forms of sugar, research workers announce that they have succeeded in making butyl alcohol from corn cobs. Difficulties have always been encountered in attempts to ferment the five-carbon sugar, xylose. This announcement promises future progress in turning several other semi-waste farm products into industrial alcohol.

From the crucible of war have come several useful chemicals, including particularly insecticides, germicides and larvicides. The latest are some synthetic organic compounds to repel such pests as mosquitoes. Citronella oil has been the mainstay for many years in this role. But the public may soon be learning about chemicals with such difficult names as dimethyl phthalate, indalone, Rutgers 612, and dimethyl carbate for routing mosquitoes, chiggers and several other biting insects.

In 1830 it required 64 hours of labor to grow, harvest and sell an acre of wheat; in 1947, with the latest types of equipment labor has been reduced to two hours and 24 minutes per acre.

From April, 1940, until January, 1944, military service and urban employment drew 3,685,000 persons of employable age from farm life. This does not appear a serious drain until it is remembered that the total number of farm workers (operators, their families, and hired help) totaled only 10,585,000 at the beginning of 1940.

Only about half the dairy farms of the United States with 10 or more cows per farm have milking machines.

"You can't depend on the weather of the Great Plains," says a recent publication of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. This is a fact which those who favor government regulation of crop acreages always overlook. Of course, the publication does not include the latter observation.

Union bricklayers are receiving as high as $27 per day of eight hours in most cities of the East, as of this date. If this is compared with the wages farmers are compelled to pay farm help, a better comprehension may be gained of some of the REAL farm problems.

Little is gained by setting out strawberry plants in the fall. Spring planting is still favored by most experienced growers. And, too, nursery plants cost more in the fall.

BRIEF FACTS ABOUT SHADE TREES

Deciduous shade trees (those which shed their leaves in the fall) may be planted any time after they become dormant, preferably in late fall or during mild periods over winter. Most failures with newly planted trees are traced to late spring planting or to unwise exposure of the roots to the drying effects of sun and air.

During the stress and strain of war years there has been a widespread neglect of shade trees. This is noticeable in towns and cities where pruning and accident wounds are neglected, insect and diseases are allowed to run rampant, and replacements are not provided where older specimens have been killed or otherwise removed. And likewise, there is need for reawakened interest among individual home owners, both urban and rural, in planting more trees to add to the home's general appearance and comfort.

Until more successful ways are devised for curbing the Dutch elm disease it is not advisable to plant elms. In many cases where elms are the predominating shade tree it may be wise to interplant now with another genus.

If the beautiful and extremely hardy ginkgo is selected, be certain to obtain the staminate (male) form, as the female tree produces evil-smelling nuts.

Few home owners ever regret planting one or more individual specimens of the Sweet Gum, listed in most nursery catalogues as Liquidambar styraciflua. This tree is attacked by few insects and subject to few diseases. It is perhaps a peer among trees for beauty of foliage in late summer and autumn.

Red oak is an excellent tree to choose for immunity to diseases as well as cleanliness and attractiveness. Growth is faster than most persons can believe is possible with hardwood species.

Treat pruning wounds promptly and carefully in such trees as the Buckeye and lindens. The former is a fine shade tree if trunk wounds are not allowed to develop into cavities. Few persons unacquainted with the Buckeye know its abilities as a blooming specimen in the spring.

Two trees — White Birch and the beeches — should be considered for their beauties in winter as well as their hardiness and service during the growing season. And while estimating the attractiveness of tree bark coloring for winter ornamentation, why not include the willows?

One or two black walnut trees in the home grounds may prove advisable for their nuts as well as their habits of growth and their timber values. Along highways black walnuts are a profitable investment in both timber and nut production. And this tree interferes little with crops growing even within its rooting area.

For sound investments in tree vigor first emphasis should be placed on buying well rooted specimens from a reputable nursery. Little is gained, in fact, much is lost, by attempting to move native specimens from fields and forests. Occasionally, however, it is possible to move a fairly large shade tree from an open area to the home grounds and thereby gain several years in time. But this is not a job for the inexperienced.

It is estimated that homo sapiens (modern-type man) has been in existence for about 300,000 years.

NEW FORSYTHIA OF DWARF TYPE IS DEVELOPED

A forsythia bush which scarcely exceeds a foot in height, even when mature, yet blooms freely in early spring — a forsythia adapted for use as ground cover, as an edging shrub and as a point of accent in miniature landscapes contrived by rock gardeners — surely offers promise of becoming popular in American gardens writes T. H. Everett, horticulturist of the New York Botanical Garden, in the New York Herald Tribune. Such a shrub is Forsythia viridissima bronxensis, a variety described for the first time and formally named by Mr. Everett in the November 1 issue of "The Gardeners' Chronicle of America."

Started 10 Years Ago
The newly named shrub has been growing at the New York Botanical Garden in Bronx Park for 10 years or so, and each spring has attracted the attention of visiting horticulturists. None reported ever seeing anything quite like it before; all expressed the hope that it would be propagated and made available to home gardeners says Mr. Everett.

Propagation has been effected and the garden has a modest stock of this unusual plant. To make it available to gardeners throughout the country as soon as possible, the New York Botanical Garden has offered to share the available stock with the Garden Club of America and with the National Council of Federated Garden Clubs, with the suggestion that they arrange for local nurserymen to propagate and disseminate the newcomer.

Thrives In Sun
Forsythia viridissima bronxensis is a free-branched plant. The branches are stiff, the outer ones longer and more or less horizontal, the inner ones shorter and erect. The flowers, which are borne freely, are clear amber yellow (as shown in the Ridgeway color chart), deepening a shade or two in the throat. They measure an inch across and are usually arranged in clusters of three.

Like most forsythias, this variety thrives in sunny locations and in well drained soils. At the New York Botanical Garden plants 10 years old growing in rather poor soil are scarcely more than two feet in diameter and one foot in height. In richer soils their spread increases more rapidly but their height is not affected. Forsythia viridissima bronxensis roots from cuttings.

There are more than 75 minerals which are regarded as of sufficient commercial importance to be mined extensively.

GOP REVISIONS ON MARSHALL'S PLAN APPEARING

Washington, Nov. 4 (AP)—Prospective Republican limitations on the Marshall plan began to take form today with a demand from Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) that the administration submit a "total bill" for world-wide aid proposals.

Vandenberg's assertion that "we cannot indefinitely underwrite the world," drew attention to a growing framework of requirements upon which the GOP majority in Congress may insist before it approves any plan for economic help to Europe.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) already has said the cost of such aid ought to be limited to $4,500,000,000 in the next year. Senator White of Maine, the GOP floor leader, told a reporter he thinks other party members will have "quite a few ideas of their own" when the special session begins considering the program November 17.

Hopes For "Reasonable Plan"
"I think the Republicans are going to be keenly interested in how the program is administered," White said. "I hope the president will send up a reasonable proposal that both sides can agree on. If he does I believe that Congress will act quickly, so that the decks can be cleared to attack domestic problems."

Mr. Truman also has called for action to halt a domestic inflationary spiral, but White indicated this subject may be laid aside temporarily for debate on the aid program.

Vandenberg, returning to his desk here to begin preparations for Senate foreign relations committee hearings on emergency European help proposals, made it plain in an Ann Arbor, Mich., speech yesterday that he has not softened his previous demand for a "total balance sheet" of world-wide aid, including that to China.

Teacher On Bail For Beating Boy

Newport, Pa., Nov. 4 (AP)—A 52-year-old teacher whose one-room schoolhouse was picketed by a group of sign-carrying parents has been released in $750 bond on charges of assault and battery on a six-year-old boy pupil.

Walter Byers was released in bond for arraignment in criminal court November 17 after pleading innocent yesterday before Justice of the Peace Frank Milligan.

The charges were pressed by John Jenkins, who said his son, David, was brought home in a semi-conscious condition with two lumps on his head. Milligan said four other pupils told him Byers had whipped the child because he failed to recite his numbers lesson correctly and laughed when ordered to stand facing the wall.

Byers testified he had spanked the boy but denied the punishment meted out was "too severe."

Parents and pupils last week picketed Byers' schoolhouse carrying signs which read "we want a new teacher."

SOUNDS TAPS 600 TIMES

M-Sgt William Baldwin, chief trumpeter, Pennsylvania Brigade Sons of Union Veterans, sounded taps for the 600th time at the funeral of a veteran Saturday when he sounded taps at the funeral of Lt. Sergeant Baldwin's name was inadvertently omitted from a story of the funeral published Monday.

REDS INDIGNANT

Moscow, Nov. 4 (AP)—Pravda published Monday a letter signed by four workers in a Moscow factory declaring that Maj. Gen. R. Hilton, British military attache, had been found taking photographs of the building. The letter said the incident had caused "great indignation" at the factory, which was not identified.

Champ Bloodhound Keeps Record Clean

Harrisville, N. H., Nov. 4 (AP)—Queenie, three-year-old bloodhound owned by Sheriff Arthur N. Jennison, still is batting one thousand.

A little less than a month ago, Queenie led a posse through a mile and a half of swamps and woodlands at Fitzwilliam to find three-year-old Louis Dunton, missing since the previous evening, sitting naked in the underbrush.

Yesterday, Queenie—in her second test at tracking a human—led a search party to Anthony Leoni, 28-year-old Boston war veteran, found unharmed after a night in the freezing woods.

Leoni, a patient at Aldworth Manor, a private sanitarium, disappeared Saturday afternoon. Queenie located Leoni in dense woods a half mile from the hospital and sanitarium. Doctors said that although he was recuperating from a recent brain operation he went through the experience in good condition.

FOUR HUNTERS SLAIN IN STATE

Harrisburg, Nov. 4 (AP)—Four fatalities and 14 injuries were counted today among the 1947 small game season mishaps which brought a warning against carelessness by the state game commission.

The latest death was reported late yesterday in Westmoreland county where James Crescendo, 44, Penn Station, was killed by his own gun. Three others died in opening day mishaps Nov. 1.

"Be careful of your own and your companion's safety," the commission said in asking hunters to wear plenty of red and make certain not to hunt where men are working in fields.

At the same time, the agency urged hunters, despite last night's heavy rains, to be on continual guard against forest fires. Pennsylvania's state-owned forests were closed five days last week because of tinder-dry conditions.

Reports on the extent of the game kill were spotty, some sections showing better-than-average bags and others to a lesser extent. The commission said any progress reports must await complete statistics from field supervisors.

Used Pillow On Head For Safe Climbing

Wilmington, Del., Nov. 4 (AP)—Thirty-five-year-old Linwood Elan told police "I wasn't taking any chances" after he was nabbed climbing up the wall of a four-story school building here with a pillow tied to his head.

"According to the laws of gravity, if you fall from a high place you usually land on your head," he explained yesterday in police court.

Intercepted on the third floor while astonished pupils watched from windows, Elan said he was practicing so that he could scale the wall of the 15-story Dupont buildings—tallest in Wilmington.

He was fined $25 and costs on a disorderly conduct charge.

HALLOWEEN PARTY

The Sunshine class of Flohr's Lutheran church, McKnightstown, held a Halloween barn party at the home of Jeanne and Dorothy Wetzel last Thursday evening. The evening was spent with dancing and playing games, after which refreshments were served.

UNITED NATIONS MAY BE INDIA'S 'SALVATION'

By DEWITT MACKENZIE (AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

One would think the United Nations ought to welcome the offer by Jawaharlal Nehru, prime minister of the Dominion of India, to submit the political fate of the princely state of Kashmir to a referendum conducted under the auspices of the peace organization as soon as the current invasion of Pathan tribesmen has been dealt with and tranquility has been restored.

There would be a chance for the U.N. to halt its international gog-fight and do a constructive job of immense importance. I use the adjective "immense" advisedly because the Kashmir situation is so grave that out of it could grow a civil war which would rend the entire Indian sub-continent with its four hundred million people.

Pandit Nehru didn't elaborate on his proposal. Presumably the referendum would be to decide whether the state would join Pakistan or India, but wouldn't affect the rule of the Hindu Maharajah. Other princes have joined the dominions without losing their thrones.

Any Solution Painful
Of course any solution of this dangerous situation will cause heart-burning somewhere. Still, a referendum looks like a fair and honorable method of deciding the issue, and certainly the U.N. is concerned in a matter affecting the peace of the whole Indian peninsula which means the peace of the world.

This is a proposition which shouldn't be used as a shuttle-cock, to be batted back and forth indefinitely. The position in India is critical. Not only is there the danger of civil war, but the normal life of many parts of the vast subcontinent has been wholly dislocated by the establishment of the two dominions which are wholly sovereign and don't even have an interlocking economy.

Moreover there has been a dislocation of scores of thousands of poor folk who got included in the wrong dominion by force of circumstances—Hindus who were left in Pakistan, and Moslems who lived in what became India. Much bloodshed has attended the transfer of these unfortunate to their proper dominions, and the problem of finding homes for these displaced people is great.

If there's anything the U.N. can do to bring peace to India, now is the time to do it.

Motorist Killed On Sunshine Trail

Waynesboro, Pa., Nov. 4 (AP)—Robert Rook, 28, Waynesboro, was fatally injured early Monday when the auto in which he was a passenger left the Sunshine Trail, eight miles east of here, and plunged over a 50-foot embankment.

State Policeman Kilo Yemzow said two other occupants of the car, James Danzberger, 28, and Clyde W. King, 31, both of Chambersburg, were thrown clear of the auto before it left the road and were not seriously injured.

Solve Slaying Of Boy Found Oct. 29

Chicago, Nov. 4 (AP)—Authorities announced Monday the mysterious brutal slaying of a seven-year-old boy had been solved by a fifth-grade pupil's signed statement that "I killed Lonnie Fellick last Oct. 18 in Thatcher woods forest preserve."

Lonnie's battered body was found in the preserve on Oct. 29, eleven days after he disappeared from his home.

Coroner A. L. Brodie said Howard Lang, 12, described by his mother as a "smart alec," told him he had stabbed Lonnie and crushed the younger boy's head "with a brick" after an argument.

In a statement which young Lang signed after a 15-hour interrogation at the juvenile home, Brodie said a nine-year-old boy and a 17-year-old girl were implicated.

26 Western Penna. Movie Referenda

Pittsburgh, Nov. 4 (AP)—Citizens in 26 western Pennsylvania towns and cities voted today on Sunday movies. There was also balloting for 15 mayors and 12 county judges but the prospect of a heavy vote depended largely on the feeling of the citizenry about the Sunday movies issue.

Wilkesburg, known as the "church city," was voting on Sabbath cinema for the third time in 11 years. Residents there turned them down in 1936 and 1940. This time, about 2,900 persons signed a petition saying they wanted Sunday shows. The Wilkesburg Betterment Association and most of the borough's ministers were fighting the idea.

In Altoona, the drive for Sunday movies won support from an Episcopal minister, Canon John R. Leatherbury of St. Luke's church, who said from the pulpit "there is nothing in the Bible against entertainment on Sunday."

It is estimated that about one-seventh of all hog feed in the United States goes to pigs which die before they get to market.

FIRE DESTROYS COLLEGE DORM

Selinsgrove, Pa., Nov. 4 (AP)—The landmark of Susquehanna university, 89-year-old "Old Selinsgrove Hall," was in ruins today in the wake of a disastrous fire which swept through all of its three floors.

Dr. G. Morris Smith, president of the university, estimated the damage to the structure—the first floor housed administration offices and the second and third floors were used for dormitories—at upwards of $200,000.

Firemen continued to search for clues to the origin of the blaze which broke out at 7 p. m., yesterday in the cupola atop the building and spread to the lower floors.

Loss Clothes And Books
Fifty students, whose quarters were on the upper floors, were forced to flee from the blazing structure into a drenching downpour, leaving most of their clothes and books behind.

They joined with the remainder of the 550 students on the campus in bucket brigades before 10 fire companies from Selinsgrove, Sunbury, Northumberland, Middleburg, Shamokin Dam and Hummel's Wharf arrived on the scene and brought the flames under control.

Most of the college records in the administration offices were saved. One of the students, Lucius L. Walton, Hackensack, N. J., was overcome by smoke and collapsed in a stairway of the structure.

Fraternity homes on the campus and private houses in the community took in those who lost their quarters.

Schiff Company To Buy Another Plant

Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 4 (AP)—Changing the name of the Schiff Co. to the Shoe Corporation of America was authorized at a special meeting of stockholders here as well as other important changes in the corporate structure of the big retail shoe chain.

The only definite expansion plans of the company at present are to purchase the business of the Waynesboro Shoe Manufacturing Co., at Waynesboro, Pa., whose entire stock now is owned by five Schiff officers.

Holders of 222,750 outstanding shares of common stock at yesterday's meeting authorized a large increase on capitalization, an increase in the number of directors from seven to 12 and the creation of a new class of stock which will make it possible for the Schiff family to retain control of the $19,000,000 corporation.

In a normal year close to 60,000-600 pounds of wild rabbit are harvested in the United States.

Tent Caterpillars Are Easy To Kill

There is no better time to go after the annoying tent caterpillar than in late fall or early winter when the leaves have dropped from the trees. At that time the egg masses are plainly visible as brown little swellings attached to the branches. They are about half an inch long, so they stand out quite sharply against the sky. Once the gardener learns what they look like they are not hard to find or difficult to remove. Just pry them loose and drop them.

12 Million Dollars can't prevent a Gas Shortage this winter!
But maybe you can!

For the year 1947 your gas company allocated 12 million dollars toward the ultimate plan of preventing gas shortages. Yet there could easily be a gas shortage this winter.

More people than ever before depend on gas for home heating, cooking, water heating and refrigeration. This unprecedented demand keeps present gas supply lines loaded to capacity even in normal winter weather. A sudden cold wave doubles this demand, reducing pressures in the lines to dangerously low levels.

Actually, there is plenty of natural gas at the source—in the abundant gas fields of Texas and Oklahoma and even in the nearby gas wells of Pennsylvania and West Virginia. The scarcity exists in the capacity of the pipe lines that bring this precious fuel from the source to your home.

Although we allocated 12 million dollars to expand our distribution and gas storage facilities—a part of this expansion program will not be completed this year due to shortages in vital materials. The work that has been completed will help considerably . . . but we must still ask our customers to cooperate by conserving this precious fuel wherever possible.

Help Save this Precious Fuel

1. Please don't use your gas range to heat your kitchen.
2. Do your washing on some other day than Monday.
3. Set your furnace thermostat at 68°—still lower at night.
4. Shut off rooms not in use—particularly attics and second floor bedrooms.
5. Don't use gas heaters to supplement your furnace.
6. Use hot water sparingly—don't keep it running needlessly.
7. Install storm sash and insulation—your savings on heating bills will amaze you.

SEES ATTACK ON CATHOLICS SOON IN POLAND

By TOM WILLIAMS
London, Nov. 4 (AP) — Stanislaw Mikolajczyk predicted today that Communist-dominated Poland soon will begin an attack on the Catholic church.

The Polish Peasant party leader, refreshed after his dramatic flight from his native land to escape being "shot and killed like a sheep," said he intended to go soon to the United States "to see friends."

"I am sure," he said, "that you will hear in a few weeks of a priest being tried for sabotaging the workers; another for having weapons. x x x You will see an increasing fight on the church."

Hints At Bribes
Answering questions, the wartime premier declared:

"Everyone in Poland would like the church land to be divided among the peasants if only they could have political freedom. We often hear of charges being manufactured against priests for associating with the underground, but it is true to say that the church has never enjoyed such enthusiastic support from the people as it does now."

Regarding his bold dash from Warsaw Oct. 20, across the Russian zone of Germany, Mikolajczyk said with a smile: "Sometimes you meet many ordinary Russian people, who like us, are fond of cigars."

A U.S. military government source in Berlin said Mikolajczyk had been helped in his 15 day flight by a kind of "underground railroad" set up by American and British intelligence sections. Mikolajczyk reached the British zone Saturday and flew to London yesterday in an RAF plane. He was at the suburban residence of his wife in Kenton.

And in Moscow, Trud, Soviet trade union organ, published a cartoon showing Mikolajczyk being wafted to a heaven on "Gangster street" on wings of "dollars" and "pounds sterling."

Emmitsburg

One hundred and twenty-five employees, husbands, wives and guests of the Emmitsburg Shoe company held their first annual banquet and dance October 24 in the American Legion hall.

A meeting was held October 27 by a few Emmitsburg patrons of the public schools with a view to organizing a Parent-Teachers Association. A public meeting will be held Friday evening to which all parents and school patrons are invited.

About fifty members and guests of the Emmitsburg Lions club attended the regular semi-monthly meeting October 27 in the Lutheran parish house. This was known as "Farmers' Night" and a number of farmers were present. Dr. D. L. Beegle, president of the club presided at the business session. Moving pictures were shown by Rhea Kincaid, of Thurmont, district governor of Lions.

High school students held a Halloween party last Tuesday evening in the auditorium. Students, teachers and guests took part in the festivities.

ling warning signs or blinkers. Locations mentioned included the East Lincoln avenue-Harrisburg road intersection; Baltimore street near the Jennie Wade house; College avenue and Munmasburg road and West Middle street at Confederate avenue.

The question of a state survey on traffic lights here was also brought up, and Burgess C. A. Heiges said no action had been taken by the state to his knowledge. Mrs. Anna Dracha, borough secretary, read a letter from the state highway department dated October 30 in which the borough's application for a survey was acknowledged. No new traffic lights may be installed until state approval is obtained.

Cites Tiber "Disgrace"
Council voted to pay the cost of electricity for lighting the Christmas decorations on the borough streets this year.

Councilman Harry Troxell reported that the words "school" had been painted in large letters on several borough streets as a safety measure for children. He said at a meeting of the safety committee and school authorities arrangements had been made to have school teachers instruct their pupils to cross only at intersections.

Several complaints relative to street conditions were aired and Councilman Fred Hummelbaugh asked for a new ordinance prohibiting dumping refuse in the Tiber. He was informed that an existing ordinance against dumping on any borough right of way covered this stream.

"The situation in the Tiber is a disgrace to the borough," he said. Citing instances, he charged that grass and earth from the Meade school, broken pieces of concrete and other refuse had been thrown in the stream, and raw sewage was running into it in some places.

Bridges Need Repairs
Although the Springs avenue bridge has been partially repaired, Hummelbaugh said that it was still in bad condition, and that several other bridges need repairs and that the Tiber is filled with brush in some places.

After the borough engineer had said that temporary repairs could be made for $200 or $300, but that permanent repairs would cost in excess of $5,000, the matter of the Springs avenue bridge was referred to the highway committee for investigation and report.

Engineer Winebrenner said numerous complaints had been received by him of other conditions in the borough. He said a boy had been injured on Stevens street, an automobile had been damaged on West Middle street and crossings and drain openings were dangerous in other places.

Question Liability
He listed some of them as West Water street and Munmasburg street; South Stratton and East Middle streets and in front of the engine house. The question over the borough's liability in case of accident was turned over to Borough Solicitor Eugene V. Buleit.

Winebrenner requested that members of council visit the borough shed on Race Horse alley where he said repairs and alterations are needed. Several councilmen made an inspection this morning.
